THE UNKNOWN DEAD.

There Is No Record of Them, Save in the Book of the Recording Angel.

"Found in the water the body of an unknown man"—"found dead in an area an unknown woman"—"died at the station-house, where he had applied for shelter, a man; name unknown." Announcements to this effect, though a little more circumstantial, appear daily in our public journals, says the New York Ledger. An unfortunate human waif drops dead in the street; his corpse is taken to the nearest police office; twelve individuals, in a great hurry to get back to their business, say "accidental death," and the coroner pockets his fee; whereupon the body is hastily thrust into a pine coffin and hurried off to the home of the homeless and nameless—Potter's Field. It can not be helped, perhaps, yet it is, nevertheless, very sad.

But little time is given for identification—especially in summer, when the safety of the living demands the speedy interment of the dead. Sometimes the only parties who "view the body" are the jurors, the coroner and the police. Once cast into a blank grave in the pauper Golgotha, the dead unknown may be considered as among the "things lost on earth." There is no record of him thereafter, save in the book of the Recording Angel. Friends may mourn his loss—for sometimes the "unknown" have friends. They may learn his fate and even trace his clay to the Cemetery of the Destitute; but only to the gate—no farther. Who shall designate his particular moldering-place amid the undistinguishable hosts of mounds, as like each other as the billows of the sea!

This is not as it should be. Some relic of the unknown dead should be preserved, whereby they might, if search should be afterward made for them by friends or relatives, be identified; and the graves should be numbered and catalogued, so that on such a relic being recognized, the dust of its former possessor might be discoverable. But who cares for the "unknown!"

"Rattle his bones over the stones,
He's only a pauper whom nobody owns!"

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN.

And Its Owner Used to Having It Stepped On in Street Cars.

A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on, says the Detroit News.

As the former, who was young as well as pretty, passed forward to accept a seat offered her, she tripped over the outstretched foot of an individual who was sitting at the rear of the car.

In an instant she was almost at full length in the bottom of the car. The exclamations of the passengers and the black looks they directed at the extended stumbling block should have caused its owner to sink through the seat. Quicker almost than she went down, however, she was on her feet again, and gracefully acknowledging the courtesy of the gentleman who surrendered his seat. She was greatly embarrassed, and her escort looked like a thunder cloud and as if he would like to punch the head of the fellow who had caused all the trouble. But he didn't. He contented himself with occasionally stepping vigorously on the still extended and offending foot. There did not seem to be the least sign of consciousness from its owner, while the passengers awaited the denouement. Finally, with a lurch from the car as an excuse, the foot received another ferocious dig that was so pronounced as to almost twist the man out of the seat. Thinking that perhaps he had really injured the man, the escort muttered an excuse that was received in great equanimity, with the gratifying explanation:

"Oh, don't apologize; it's a wooden one and used to being stepped on."

WON'T INTRUDE AGAIN.

How a Society Interloper Was Disciplined by a Washington Club Man.

Washington has long been notorious for a small class of hard-faced, persistent people, who make the rounds of fashionable entertainments and receptions without either invitations or the acquaintance of the people upon whom they intrude. They are of both sexes, and are alike marked for brazen audacity. One, says the Washington Post, was well done up last season, and taught a lesson he will be slow in forgetting.

A certain club in the West End is noted for its exclusiveness. At a dance given by it this bold intruder put in an appearance faultlessly attired and complacent in prospect of a pleasant evening, topped off with a fine collation. Several of the floor managers happened together and attention was called to the conspicuous stranger, whom none of them knew. By a comparison of notes it was quickly discovered that none of the authorized persons had issued him an invitation and only one even knew his name. That one approached him and asked:

"Will you inform me whose guest you are this evening?"

The intruder hemmed and hawed, but did not afford the desired information.

"You will have to pardon me," continued the gentleman, "but it is necessary to know the name of the friend who has invited you here."

"You fail to see what I am trying to make plain to you, sir. You are one of a class in this city who force themselves into the society of people with whom they are not acquainted, and who come to exclusive entertainments without the formality of an invitation. Now, if you will take my arm I will conduct you to the cloak-room. If you should go alone it would cause comment, but if you will take my arm people will think you are an acquaintance."

The interloper took the proffered arm and vanished from the room.

SPEED OF A BULLET.

How the Government Learns the Rapidity of a Rifle Ball.

How fast does a bullet travel? If it is in proper shape for traveling Colonel Flagler and his officers say it ought to go at a rate of 1,275 feet a second upon leaving the rifle.

This matter of speed is very important, and if a cartridge is five or ten feet too fast or too slow the quantity of powder must be changed. This matter of speed is tested in a very interesting way.

At the northern end of the arsenal grounds is a long wooden shed, in which a distance of one hundred feet has already been carefully marked off, says the Philadelphia Record. At either end of this space is a stand something like a target, with a large circular opening where the bull's-eye would be.

Across each opening is stretched a small electric wire connected with a delicate instrument in another room.

The rifle from which the firing is done is so aimed that the bullet which flies from it cuts both wires. Obviously the difference in time between the cutting of the first and of the second wire will mark the speed of the bullet through one hundred feet.

The measurement of this brief space of time is done by an instrument of French invention called the Boulinge chronograph. When the first wire is cut an electric circuit is broken and a rod which is suspended from a magnet falls a short distance, touching in its descent a point which makes a mark on its side.

The breaking of the second wire lets drop a second smaller rod in the same way. By means of the difference in the marks on the rods it is possible to estimate the difference in the time of their falling, and from this the speed of the bullet per second. There is a provision for detecting any error, and nearly absolute accuracy is secured.

If it is found that a bullet has traveled too fast or too slow that means that there is too much or too little powder in the charge, that the compression is wrong, or that the atmospheric conditions are unfavorable.

The charge of powder varies from sixty-five to sixty-nine grains, and is varied by as little as a tenth of a grain to secure just the right speed. The compression may also have to be changed.

These tests of speed are made throughout the day, eight cartridges being fired at a time, and if any error is detected the necessary change is made at once.

If it is found that the speed is all right, then the accuracy of the bullets in hitting an object must be determined. For this purpose they are fired over a five hundred yard range at a twelve-foot square target, near the river bank.

By an ingenious device by which the aid of photography is called in the exact point of each bullet is rapidly noted, and the general average of accuracy is afterward ascertained.

Harmless Dynamite Bombs.

An American was arrested on the Austrian frontier for having in his luggage unmistakable dynamite bombs. On further investigation they proved to be cocoanuts, something that the Austrian authorities had never seen.

That the lance is regarded in Germany as the proper weapon for cavalry appeared at the military review in Berlin in honor of King Humbert. The cuirassiers, who formerly were armed with saber and carbine, now carry lances like the uhlans, and it is even in contemplation to give the same weapon to the hussars.

In the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the Condty of Washoe.

LENA M. FRANKLIN, Plaintiff, vs. A. Z. FRANKLIN, Defendant,

THE STATE OF NEVADA SENDS TO A. Z. FRANKLIN greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by LENA M. FRANKLIN as plaintiff in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this Summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said County, or twenty days if served out of said County, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or Judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover the Judgment and Decree of this Court annulling the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between you and the said plaintiff, on the ground of failure on your part to provide for the plaintiff the common necessaries of life, such failure and neglect on your part not being the result of poverty which could not have been avoided by ordinary industry, all of which will more fully appear from the Complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said County, and to which you are especially referred.

And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court this 6th day of May, A. D. 1889.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

FROM the Rev. Dr. Van Dyke's article in August Century, on "The Bible in Tenneyson," we quote the following: "It is safe to say that there is no other book which has had so great an influence upon the literature of the world as the Bible. And it is almost as safe—at least with no greater danger than that of starting an instructive dicussion—to say that there is no other literature which has felt this influence so deeply or shown it so clearly as the English.

"The cause of this latter fact is not far to seek. It may be, as a discontented French critic suggests, that it is partly due to the inborn and incorrigible tendency of the Anglo-Saxon mind to drag religion and morality into everything. But certainly this tendency would never have taken such a distinctly biblical form had it not been for the beauty and vigor of our common English version of the Scriptures. These qualities were felt by the people even before they were praised by the critics. Apart from all religious prepossessions, men and women and children were fascinated by the native power and grace of the book.

The English bible was popular, in the broadest sense, long before it was recognized as one of our noblest classics. It has colored the talk of the household and the street, as well as molded the language of scholars. It has been something more than a "well of English undefiled;" it has become a part of the spiritual atmosphere. We hear the echoes of its speech everywhere, and the music of its familiar phrases haunts all the fields and groves of our fine literature.

"It is not only to the theologians and the sermon makers that we look for biblical allusions and quotations. We often find the very best and most vivid of them in writers professedly secular. Poets like Shakspere, Milton and Wadsworth; novelists like Scott, and romancers like Hawthorne; essayists like Bacon, Steele and Addison; critics of life, unsystematic philosophers, like Carlyle and Ruskin—all draw upon the bible as a treasury of illustrations, and use it as a book equally familiar to themselves and to their readers. It is impossible to put too high a value upon such a universal volume, even as a purely literary possession."

About twenty years ago saw mills first appeared on the banks of the Truckee river and ever since then masses of edgings, bark and saw dust have been heaped up to soak in high water and steam in the hot sun in low water. These masses are just now beginning to rot nicely, and in the next few years will send down poison at an increasing ratio. In a month's work one man could burn up most of this stuff and let it settle to the bottom as ashes.

It may be many years before such another opportunity presents itself, for the river may not be so low again in fifty years. Such a trifling expense would not be felt, and it would remove a menace to the health of the citizens of Reno that will grow more deadly as the years roll by. Rotting wood is a very unhealthy diet.

It seems a hard thing to say that a reputable business man will poison his neighbors for half a dollar, and yet it is close to the truth. Some dealers find a larger profit buying cheap goods that they know are adulterated, and working them off at about the price pure goods ought to bring, than in handling the best goods. The housekeeper should never tolerate anything of the sort, and if she finds the merchant working off cheap goods on her old man, it is her right and duty to object. If she has a man with a mind weak enough to be imposed upon or a heart small enough to cheat her and her children with poisoned food, let her bounce him. It is cheaper to buy the best and it will save a miserable old age or a premature death.

DURING the low stage of the river all water used for domestic purposes should be boiled. A word to the wise. You can save fevers and perhaps loss of friends by a little extra labor in this matter.

THE Board of Regents in their efforts to unify the school system of Nevada are to be commended. Their position, that the University should undertake no work that can be well done in the common school, is the correct one. The State Board of Education fills a responsible position in regard to our school interests, and with the course of study for the common schools, which that board is authorized and directed by law to prescribe and cause to be adopted, there will be nothing to prevent all the schools of Nevada from working harmoniously together.

A RIVER police should be kept up with power to prosecute anyone throwing dead animals or drift into the Truckee. The cost would be trifling compared to the benefits. One man would be all that would be necessary, and he could keep the river as clean as a whistle.

THE DAIRY INTEREST,

In Which There Are Two Billion Dollars Invested.

A correspondent of the New York Graphic writes as follows: Chatting recently with ex-Senator Warner Miller, he told me that the dairying business was the largest single industry in the United States. The facts are simply stupendous, when they are considered as I found by questioning a leading merchant in the produce line to-day. He told me that there are over $2,000,000,000 invested in dairying, an amount almost double that invested in banking and commercial industries. It is estimated that it requires 15,000,000 cows to supply the demand for milk and its products in the United States.

To feed these cows 60,000,000 acres of land are under cultivation. The agricultural and dairy machinery and implements in use are worth over $200,000,000. The men employed in the business number 750,000 and the horses over 1,000,000. The cows and horses consume annually 30,000,000 tons of hay, nearly 90,000,000 bushels of corn meal, about the same amount of oat meal, 275,000,000 bushels of oats, 2,000,000 bushels of bran and 30,000,000 of corn, to say nothing of the brewery grains, sprouts and other questionable feed of various kinds that are used to a great extent. It costs $450,000,000 to feed these cows and horses. The average price paid to the labor necessary in the dairy business is probably $20 a month, amounting to $180,000,000 a year.

The average cow yields about 450 gallons of milk a year, which gives a total product of 6,750,000,000 gallons. Twelve cents a gallon is a fair price to estimate the value of this milk—a total return to the dairy farmers of $810,000,000 if they sold all their milk as milk. But 50 per cent. of the milk is made into cheese and butter. It takes twenty-seven pounds of milk to make one pound of butter, and about ten pounds to make one of cheese. There is the same amount of nutrition in eight and a half pounds of milk that there is in one pound of beef. A fat steer furnishes 50 per cent. of boneless beef, but it would require about twenty-four million steers weighing 1,500 pounds each to produce the same amount of nutrition as the annual milk product does.

The Amount of Sleep Required.

The Home Maker contains the following: Up to the fifteenth year most young people require ten hours, and until the twentieth year nine hours. After that age very nearly every one finds out how much sleep he or she requires, though, as a general rule, at least six to eight hours are necessary. Eight hours sleep will prevent more nervous derangements in women than any medicine can cure. During growth there must be ample sleep if the brain is to develop to its fullest extent, and the more nervous, excitable or precocious a child is, the longer sleep should it get if its intellectual progress is not to come to a premature standstill, or its life cut short at an early age.

What Protection Has Done.

A quarter of a century ago most of our paper was manufactured abroad. Now we manufacture for our own markets, import hardly any, and export some to Australia, Mexico and South America. Will some free trade journal kindly tell us whether this development of our paper industry would have been possible if there had been no protection?

In Committee of the Whole of the Montana Convention Saturday, Anaconda received 32 votes against 24 for the location of the capital. Great excitement resulted in Helena.

Resignation Withdrawn.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—Miss Kate Field, who recently resigned her connection with the California Viticultural Commission as lecturer on "The Gospel of the Grape" has written a letter to President Wetmore from Richfield Springs, N. Y., withdrawing her resignation. She states that she takes this action on account of the sympathy and support given her by the Viticultural Commission and the press of California, and also because the Prohibitionists already boast that they have forced her to abandon her opposition to their cause.

A Report Denied.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—Theodore Cramp, brother of Henry Cramp of the firm of ship-builders, says his brother has not gone to the Pacific coast for the purpose of purchasing the British ship yard at Vancouver as reported at San Francisco; that his trip is purely for pleasure and has no business significance. He knows of no such plans mentioned, and while admitting the possibility, declares that it is highly improbable. A representative of Neafie & Levy, mentioned as connected with the alleged syndicate, says his firm is not connected with it.

Particulars of the Capture of the British Schooner Black Diamond.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

Capture of the Black Diamond.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The steamer Dor, which arrived from Behring Sea, brings the first detailed news of the capture of the British sealer, Black Diamond, by the United States revenue cutter, Richard Bush. On July 11th the Rush overtook the Black Diamond and ordered her to heave to; the Captain of the Black Diamond refused, and thereupon the commander of the Rush ordered the lowering of the ports and the running out of the guns, which caused the schooner to heave to. Captain Sheppard and Lieutenant Tuttle boarded the English craft and asked for her papers. The officers of the Black Diamond offered no resistance, but refused to deliver the ship's papers. Captain Sheppard broke open the cabin, forced the hinges off the strong box and Captain's chest thereby securing the papers.

A search of the vessel disclosed 103 sealskins taken in Behring Sea. Captain Sheppard placed a non-commissioned officer from the Rush in charge of the Black Diamond and ordered the vessel taken to Sitka. The captain of the Black Diamond made a statement that when in Victoria he was ordered to pay no attention in case he was overtaken by the Rush and requested to heave to. He said he would not have surrendered if the Rush had an inferior force to that of his own. A passenger who arrived here last night on the steamer Dora said: "On our way down from St. Paul's Island we saw six sealers and the Rush closely in pursuit. We left St. Paul's Island on the 14th inst. and on the following day we saw the Rush in pursuit of its prey, and undoubtedly by this time the Rush has made additional captures.

Demand for American Wheat.

POMONA, Cal., July 29.—A private letter received here to-day from M. G. Arnold, now in London, and who has great grain interests in the San Joaquin Valley and Oregon, states that he has never known in the past thirty years so great an interest in the American, and particularly the Pacific Coast, wheat crop, as prevails abroad this season. London grain-buyers, he writes, openly say that the shortage of wheat in Russia and India will be greater than at any time within ten years, and that the American product will come into large demand.

The Cretian Rumpus.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 30.—A ministerial council held here resolved to send a Commissioner to Crete to endeavor to settle the difficulties there, and also to despatch eight battalions to the island.

Italy advises Turkey to attempt to conciliate the Cretans and, if necessary, resort to the mediation of an European power. Italy will not assent to the annexation of the Island by Greece.

A Heavy Firm Fails.

BOSTON, July 30.—N. & A. H. Batchellor & Co., among the largest boot and shoe houses in Boston, have assigned. Assets and liabilities unknown.

Bachellor states that the liabilities are $1,250,000. Four-fifths of the indebtedness is to banks and individuals. The firm is one of long standing, and its failure creates great surprise.

Destructive Earthquake.

YOKOHAMA, July 30.—A dispatch from Nagazaki states that a dreadful earthquake occurred in the western portion of the Island of Kiousion. The town of Kumamoto was destroyed, many people perished and a vast amount of property destroyed.

The Dervishes Advancing.

A Serious Charge.

PARIS, July 30.—The La Crosse, a Boulangist organ, accuses the Government of falsifying many voting papers at the elections on Sunday. The corrected returns show that Boulanger was elected in 28 Cantons.

The Chico Tragedy.

CHICO, Cal., July 29.—A sensation was created this morning at the inquest held over the body of C. A. Hubbs, Mrs. Barney, when on the stand before, testified that Bierce had fired the first shot. In her direct testimony to-day she testified that as Bierce went through the door into the bed-room Hubbs drew a revolver and fired through the door at him. Bierce then drew his pistol and defended himself to his death.

When asked why she had made such conflicting statements, she replied: "As long as Hubbs was alive I did not wish to criminate him, but after death I think the truth ought to be told also; my back was turned when the shot was fired, and witnesses only have to testify to what they see."

The jury returned a verdict that Hubbs came to his death by gunshot wounds in the abdomen inflicted by Raymond Bierce.

Mrs. Barney was released from court this afternoon.

Probably an Accident.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—An inquiry was made at the State Department to-day as to whether or not any action would be taken upon the report from Dublin that a letter written by President Harrison to Lord Mayor Sexton, acknowledging the receipt of a message conveying resolutions of sympathy with the sufferers by the Johnstown flood, have been opened in transit. One of the officials said it is not probable that any action will be taken unless the matter is brought to the attention of the department officially, which has not been done. It has often happened that seals have been broken in transit, and it might be an accident which caused a suspicion of tampering in this case.

President's Trip to Bar Harbor.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The final arrangements have been made for President Harrison's trip to Bar Harbor next week. He will leave here at 9:40 A. M. on August 6th for New York, and take a Fall river boat that evening for Boston. The day and night of the 7th he will remain in Boston, leaving on the morning of the 8th, and go to Bar Harbor by rail.

To be Extradited.

WINNIPEG, July 30.—A full court gave judgment at noon to-day in the Burke appeal. Judgment was delivered by Chief Justice Taylor, Judge Dubase and Judge Rillam. All concurred in the finding that there were no grounds for reversing the action of Judge Bain, who committed Burke for extradition. Burke, therefore, goes back as soon as the necessary order comes from Ottawa.

Nauseating Discovery.

THE DALLES, Or., July 29.—The bodies of four dead infants were found in a reservoir of the water works here yesterday. It is believed that every one of the infants were born alive, as they are well developed. The discovery has caused great excitement, as two of the bodies appear to have been in the reservoir some time.

Matt. McCabe, of New Brunswick, Ill., offers to pay five dollars to any person troubled with bloody flux, who will take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy according to directions and does not get well in the shortest possible time. One-half of a 25-cent bottle of this remedy cured him of bloody flux, after he had tried other medicines and the prescriptions of physicians without benefit. Mr. McCabe is perfectly safe in making this offer, as more than a thousand bottles of this remedy are sold each day and it has never been known to fail in any case of colic, cholera morbus, dysentery, diarrhoea or bloody flux, when the plain printed directions were followed. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

BITTEN BY A RATTLER.

Judge Kehoe of Virginia City the Victim.

Last evening's Virginia Chronicle says: Justice of the Peace Kehoe returned yesterday from a month's sojourn at Rubicon Springs. He relates the following amusing incident, which for a time relieved the monotony of life at that secluded mountain resort:

While wandering about in the vicinity of Rockbound lake, accompanied by a boy, the Judge was struck on the leg by the fangs of a large rattlesnake. The boy witnessed the snake strike the Judge's leg and ran at full speed back to the hotel at Rubicon and gave the alarm.

A rescue party was hurriedly organized by the guests. The party, armed with at least a barrel of whisky in flasks, decanters and bottles, hastened in the direction of the spot where the Judge had been bitten by the venomous reptile. The members of the rescue party had not proceeded far on their humane mission when they observed the Judge approaching—his usual limp in walking seeming greatly intensified to their alarmed imaginations. A grand rush was made for the Judge and a hundred flasks were instantly uncorked, the odor of whisky supplanting that of fragrant pines, firs and wild flowers—each owner of a flask being eager to have the Judge first partake of the contents and others endeavoring to strip his trousers off to apply healing ointments to the wound.

The Judge finally was able to explain that he had been struck on the leg by a rattler, and while indicating with his finger the spot where the reptile's poisonous fangs struck, remarked that it was his wooden leg that had been bitten, and therefore the wound would not prove serious. The Judge afterward killed the snake and exhibited the end of the tail as a trophy, which is ornamented with seven rattles.

CHURCHILL COUNTY.

A Fair Alfalfa Crop but not Many Potatoes.

The scarcity of water on the Carson river has its telling effect on the products of that section of the State. They commenced the work of irrigation there much earlier than usual and have been rewarded with more than an average yield of a first crop of alfalfa, and will put up about two-thirds of a second crop. The two crops, including the increased acreage, will give the greatest yield of alfalfa ever produced on the Sink of the Carson.

Already a few ranchers have sold this year's crop to outside parties, who will drive there to feed the coming Winter.

From present indications the thousands of tons of alfalfa produced there this year will find a ready market, because so many hay-producing sections have failed.

The potato crop, as learned, is a complete failure throughout Churchill county. The vines looked most promising, but potatoes are not to be found.

All kinds of range feed is very scarce there, and the stock on the ranges are poor; probably this fact is owing as much to the long distances they have to go to get water, as to the scarcity of feed.

THE UNIVERSITY.

Preparing to Build a Fine Structure on the Grounds.

The Board of Regents have finally decided to erect a brick building, 80x40, containing a basement, two stories and attic. The basement will be used as a kitchen, lavatory and storage room, where students can, if they see fit, employ a cook and mess themselves; the first floor will be devoted to University purposes; the second floor to students' rooms, and the attic story contain a large assembly hall. The building will be serviceable, and will add very materially to the appearance of the grounds. Great care has been observed by the Regents as to properly lighting the building. The building will be ready for occupancy by March 1, '90. While the GAZETTE doubts the need of a building for dormitory purposes, it does not wish to be captious, but is perfectly willing to have the Regents try it, and then we will all know. They did, however, decide not to put the State in a position of boarding-house keeper, but to let the students, if any there were who desired to try it, employ a cook and mess themselves.

Much Mutton.

D. C. Wheeler has between forty and fifty thousand head of sheep in the hills this year and will ship over a hundred carloads of mutton to San Francisco during the season. Many others have smaller lots and the market will have mutton to take the place of beef this winter. There has been no scarcity of feed, although the springs and streams have dried up earlier than usual. On the whole it has been a good year for sheep, and if the price is fair for mutton and wool this fall the sheepmen will do well.

Destructive Ranch Fire.

The residences of Tollis, Dinsmore, Humphreys, Patterson, Kimberly, Van Grassel, Crawford, Hiller, Mesick, Light and two others, with the furniture, besides a number of barns, a large quantity of hay and a large number of horses and cattle were burned by the field fires near Santa Barbara, Cal., Saturday and Sunday nights. Several persons barely escaped with their lives. The loss will reach fully $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

A Misplaced Switch.

Jack Miller, the engineer, and Quint Guthrie, the fireman on the south-bound train from Portland, Or., Sunday were seriously injured in an accident near Lebanon, caused by a switch being left partly open.

Death of a Native Son.

Frank P. Ryland, the eldest son of Hon. T. C. Ryland, died at the home of his parents, in San Jose, Friday. He was a native of San Jose, twenty-seven years of age, and held important positions of trust in that city.

From Attorney-General Alexander, who has just returned from Lovelock, the GAZETTE learns that P. N. Marker did not have any bones broken in his recent runaway. Mrs. Johnson of Altoona, Pennsylvania, who has been visiting her relatives, W. P. McLaughlin and family, left for home this morning.

Attorney-General Alexander returned this morning from Winnemucca, where he has been engaged in an impending water suit.

P. F. Scott, boss Southern Pacific bridge builder, arrived last evening from Modoc county, Cal., and left this morning for his home in Sacramento.

C. C. Darling of Sierraville, one of the Supervisors of Sierra county, Cal., was in town yesterday. Mr. Darling is one of the early settlers of that historical county.

AT TAHOE.

Life as Enjoyed on the Shores of This Beautiful Lake.

A Reno business man who is camping on Lake Tahoe writes as follows:

A trio started from your burg last week, one being quite an invalid; now I am pleased to report two of the party in perfect health and the ailing one able to eat three meals per day and fast regaining strength.

"Sandy" Clark, a Renoite, is at the lake and in the employ of J. W. McKinney.

Trolling is much indulged in, but "still fishing" is the most popular sport. The latter is conducted at a depth of from forty to sixty feet, at a spot in deep water called the "snag," so named from a giant tree that sank in the lake endwise, in about one hundred feet of water, leaving about ten feet protruding from its surface; here the trout, of all sizes and varieties, congregate, and here we, the aforesaid piscators, manage to catch from 50 to 200 per day, affording occupation and pleasure to the feminine as well as the masculine visitor and, above this, a life in the pure mountain air.

When evening shades appear a bonfire is kindled on the shore for those who desire to sit around it, the parlors are occupied by whist parties, and those who are musically inclined play on a good piano and sing until 9:30 or 10 P. M., when all are ready for the sweet repose induced by this bracing and delightful atmosphere.

Bidding God Good-By.

The San Bernardino, Cal., Courier contains the following: A little girl in Los Angeles, whose family was about to move to Arizona and who had heard that country spoken of as a forlorn and particularly God-forsaken place, was saying her prayers at her mother's knee the night before their intended departure. She said all that had ever been taught her, and then with peculiar emphasis she solemnly said: "And now, good-by God, for to-morrow we are going to Arizona."

First a Pigmy—Anon a Giant.

We are too apt to regard a small ailment much as we would some pigmy, unpleasant of aspect and prankish indeed, but incapable of serious mischief. We ignore the fact that it grows prodigiously, strengthens in proportion, and begets evil progeny. A fit of indigestion, a slight bilious attack, sensations of unrest and languor when the system should have been braced by recent sleep, unaccountable nervousness, inactivity of the kidneys or bladder—what are these but the precursors of obstinate and serious bodily disturbance? In either of the above emergencies, common sense and experience unite in indicating Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as the best preventive. Particularly should its use be prompt when the languor, yawning, chilliness down the back, and feverishness that precede a malarial attack, manifest themselves. Incipient rheumatism grows apace. Don't neglect it. So with constipation and debility.

THE CROCKETT FAMILY.

Several of the Descendants Still Living.

R. P. Crockett, a son of the famous Davy Crockett, now living in Granbury, Hood county, Texas, in a recent letter to the present keeper of the Alamo, San Antonio, says: "My father, Davy Crockett, was born in Hawkins county, Tenn., 1786. He was married twice, had three children by his first wife and three by his last, three boys and three girls. I am the oldest child by his last wife, and was the youngest son. I am now seventy-three years old. My father was a fraction over six feet tall and weighed over 200 pounds, in good health, and was not fleshy. My father was first Justice of the Peace, next Colonel of a regiment of militia, then a member of the Legislature of Tennessee and twice was elected to Congress. My brother succeeded him in Congress in 1837 for six years. My youngest sister is living in Gibson county, Tenn. My mother and one sister are buried here in Hood county, Texas.

Captured Sealing Vessel.

Victoria, B. C., is reported to be much exercised over the capture of the sealing vessel Black Diamond, owned at Victoria and having 130 skins on board when seized by the Rush. It is just possible that the sealers of British Columbia are beginning to realize that President Harrison's instructions regarding seal fishing in Behring Sea will be enforced, thus giving the British Columbians a chance to carry out their boasts that bloodshed would follow such action.

Silver in Alaska.

Hitherto Alaska mines have produced gold only to a considerable extent. Quite recently silver has been discovered at Holkham Bay, the rock producing 600 ounces to the ton, with 17 to 25 per cent. copper. There is quite a rush to this spot.

A WOMAN'S WAY.

A Startling Business Proposition.

When Mrs. Fowler, of 327 Ellis street, stopped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect "The California Remedy," Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, would have in cases of dyspepsia and sick headaches, she was assured it would relieve both. She was so incredulous that the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it effected a cure. The following is the convincing conclusion.

San Francisco, February 8, 1888.

DEAR SIR: Notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have not had a return of either since. I believe I am permanently cured. You have my permission to make this public, for a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully,

Mrs. M. Fowler,

HAPPY SWITZERLAND.

The Extent to Which Its People Enjoy Home Rule.

A Country Where Every Citizen Is a Legislator and No Act of Government Becomes a Law Until It Has Received the Popular Approval.

The political divisions and subdivisions of the Swiss confederation are the same as those of the United States, save that the commune performs the functions of both township and county. The citizens of a neighborhood are grouped in the government of a commune; regional interests have given rise to the canton; the federal government unites the whole people. A correspondent of Geneva writes: To what extent the Swiss enjoy home rule and how far the people govern themselves directly may be seen in the operations of the referendum in each division of the state, and in the composition of the cantonal and federal executive powers.

In one form or other the system of the referendum has prevailed in some parts of Switzerland from time immemorial. To this day in many of the communes of Uri, Glaris, Schwyz, Appenzell and Unterwald the citizens meet, as did their fathers before them, in the town market-place or in the open air on a mountain plain to accept or reject by a show of hands the laws laid before them by the communal councils. In these radical democracies the right of initiative belongs to every citizen, he who conceives a law having the opportunity to present it and explain it at a meeting of his fellow-electors. The Swiss commune is as nearly autonomous as is consistent with cantonal and federal rights. It is regarded as in a state en petit. It really exercises the powers that M. de Tocqueville mistakenly attributed to the American township. It is jealous of interference by the state. It does not part with the administration of its forests, police, roads, schools, churches or asylums until the point is reached where the interest of the state manifestly take the place of locality. Through the referendum of the popular assemblages of the purely democratic communes every citizen becomes a legislator, his voice and vote directly influencing the decision of public questions. Yet even the communes having a representative government the referendum may be invoked so readily that the people hold control in details. Within a year on the official bulletin boards of a commune in Geneva was posted a printed notice announcing that, unless a vote of the people to the contrary was called for, a professor in one of the colleges would be presented by the communal council with an honorarium of $240.

The constitution of the canton of Geneva provides that the people may sanction or reject not only the laws passed by the cantonal legislature, but the orders issued by the cantonal legislative and executive powers. The exceptions to the exercise of the cantonal referendum are laws declared to be "of urgence" by the legislature and those relating to the annual budget, excepting when the latter establish a new tax, increasing a tax already existing, or necessitates a call for a public loan. On the demand of at least 3,500 voters—about one in four of the total number in the canton—within thirty days after the official publication of a law or order the question of adoption or rejection must be submitted to the people. The vote on the referendum must take place within forty days after the thirty days just mentioned. Thus all the functions of a direct democracy lie with the citizens of the canton in general, save that of deliberation in assembly.

Under the Swiss constitution 30,000 citizens, or a majority in eight cantons, may demand a popular vote on any federal law whatsoever and on any order emanating from the legislative or executive power which is of general import or is not urgent in character. The petition of the federal referendum must be made within ninety days after the publication of the law or order.

The cantonal and federal constitutions are also subject to revision on a vote of the people. The voters of the canton of Geneva are called upon every fifteen years to decide whether its constitution shall be revised. The federal constitution may be revised at any time. On the petition of 56,000 voters—about one-twelfth of the total vote—or in case either house of the federal assembly (Congress) demands a revision, the question whether it shall take place is submitted to the country.

The records of the referendum are curious, inasmuch as they show the frequency with which the people have had recourse to it and the tenacity with which the democracy has clung to the conservative customs. In the fifty-five years from 1469 to 1524 the referendum was resorted to in Berne sixty times. In the six years from 1874 to 1880 five measures recommended by the federal executive and passed by both houses of the federal assembly, the members of which were elected by universal suffrage, were vetoed by a national vote. In 1880 a proposal to revise the federal constitution so as to change the regulations of the issues of bank notes was rejected by a majority of 134,000. In 1882, and again in 1878, the people of the canton of Geneva rejected a proposed change in its constitution, the last time by a majority of 6,000 in a vote of 11,200. Twice since 1847 the same canton has voted not to increase the salary of the members of its executive council, and it has since declined to reduce the number of members from seven to five. The two French cantons of Geneva and Neuchatel, which only entered the confederation in the present century, adopted the referendum on the avowed ground of its efficiency as a check to hasty and inconsiderate legislation.

On the other hand, the Swiss people have shown no blind dislike of change or fear of settling once and for all questions of the gravest character. A constitution submitted to them in 1872, the work of the partisans of centralization, who had presented the programme of "an army and a law," went down before a majority of 6,000. Only two years later, however, the present constitution was adopted, religious questions connected with it arousing a strong feeling. It was adopted by a vote of 340,000 against 198,000, the Catholic cantons throwing heavy majorities against it, as it suppressed convents and the Order of Jesuits in Switzerland. In 1878 in the matter of the St. Gothard tunnel subsidy the Swiss people showed their capacity to appreciate questions of broad policy. Although the granting of the subsidy put a strain upon the National resources and the enterprise was adverse to the local interests of cantons, half a million voters went to the polls on a wretched day in midwinter and two-thirds of them voted "Yes."

Wanted the Credit of His Work.

An aspiring young man who had written yards of verses for the paper published in his native town at first used his initials, "J. R. L." for a signature. Later, however, he omitted the middle letter, and a friend asked him the reason. "Can't you guess?" said the young poetaster. "Well, it may seem selfish, but I do want the credit of my own work. If I use only two of my initials people will soon associate them with my name, but if I write 'J. R. L.' James Russell Lowell will get all the credit that belongs to me."

Senator Ingalls on Oratory.

The best way to become an orator is to have something to say and then say it.

A NORTH CAROLINA GAME.

How a Little Compulsion Forced the Pinin' at the Kissing Bee.

Back in the North Carolina mountains the student of customs may still find material for research, says the Washington Post. The most unique are the kissing games, which cling to the soil. A lot of big-limbed, powerful young men and apple-cheeked, buxom girls gather and select one of their number as master of ceremonies. He takes his station in the center of the room, while the rest pair off and parade around him. Suddenly one young woman will throw up her hands and say:

"I'm a-pinin'."

The master of ceremonies takes it up and the following dialogue and interlocution takes place:

"Miss Arabella Jane Apthorp say she's a-pinin'. What is Miss Arabella Jane Apthorp a-pinin' fur?"

"I'm a-pinin' fur a sweet kiss."

"Miss Arabella Jane Apthorp says she's a-pinin' fur a sweet kiss. Who is Miss Arabella Jane Apthorp a-pinin' fur a sweet kiss frum?"

"I'm a-pinin' fur a very sweet kiss frum Mr. Hugh Waddle." (Blushes, convulsive giggles and confusion on the part of Miss Arabella Jane Apthorp at this forced confession.) Mr. Hugh Waddle walks up manfully and relieves the fair Arabella's "pinin'" by a smack which sounds like a three-year-old steer drawing his hoof out of the mud.

Then a young man will be taken with a sudden and unaccountable "pinin'," which, after the usual exchange of questions and volunteered information, reveals the name of the maiden who causes the "gnawin'" and "pinin'." She coyly retreats out-doors, only to be chased, overtaken, captured and forcibly compelled to relieve her captor's distress.

At one of these entertainments which it was the narrator's fortune to attend there was a remarkably beautiful young woman who had been married about a month. Her husband was present, a huge, beetle-browed, black-eyed young mountaineer, with a fist like a ham. The boys fought shy of the bride for fear of incurring the anger of her hulking spouse. The game went on for some time, when symptoms of irritation developed in the giant. Striding to the middle of the room, he said:

"My wife ez pooty, 'n ez nice, 'n sweet ez any gyurl hyar. You uns has known her all her life. This game hez been a-goin' on half an hour an' nobody has pined fur her oncet. Ef some one doesn't pine fur her pooty soon thar will be trouble."

She was the belle of the ball after that. Every body pined for her.

Life at Sandringham.

Nothing can be happier and more peaceful than the life at Sandringham, and whether alone or entertaining their friends the Prince and Princess of Wales are an ideal host and hostess. They do not, as a rule, appear at breakfast; but shortly after eleven o'clock they come down and spend the rest of the day with their guests. In winter luncheon is generally taken at some cottage near where skating is going on, and the Princess and the guests join the skaters and walk with them after luncheon is over. Tea is always ready in the hall at five o'clock, and every one appears, the men in velvet suits and knickerbockers, and the ladies in tea-gowns. Dinner is at eight o'clock, and the evening is passed either in dancing or games, and about twelve o'clock the Prince and Princess give the signal for retiring, and those who go to bed early can get to rest; but the majority of the guests go to the smoking-room till an early hour in the morning.

The Gods Were Just.

An Illinois man who started through a passenger train taking a straw vote fell between two of the cars and was killed. Let this be a solemn warning.

Cholera in Michigan.

Dr. F. D. Larke, of Rogers City, Michigan, says the epidemic of last year in Presque Isle county, in which so many persons lost their lives, was choleric dysentery instead of cholera as first reported. He used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy and says it succeeded, where all other remedies failed. Not a single case was lost in which it was used. This remedy is the most reliable and most successful medicine known for colic, cholera morbus, dysentry, diarrhœa and bloody flux. Twenty-five and fifty cent bottles for sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy is the only remedy that can always be depended upon for bowel complaint in all its forms; 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Oregon is one of the most productive State in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron and coal. Immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being, in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Webfoot State may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by William Pinniger.

The immediate symptoms of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are a distressing sense of weight, oppression and fullness in the stomach, heartburn, loss of appetite, foul breath, belching, flatulency, nausea, pains in the shoulders and breast. Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic promotes healthy digestion and removes all unhealthy symptoms. Sold by William Pinniger.

It should be generally known that Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic insures a hearty appetite and increased digestion, dispels nervous depression and low spirits, overcomes lack of energy and wakefulness, and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest invalid. Sold by William Pinniger.

This is the season of the year when the raw, cold winds create sad havoc with the hands and complexion. Soft, white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Dutard's Specific. If rubbed into the skin well it leaves no greasy surface. The skin absorbs it. Sold by William Pinniger.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle. jy3
